"... The most important thing we give our customers is peace of mind."

According to Frances, disaster recovery is a huge concern for companies nowadays.

Driver Management Online™ customers don't ever have to worry about losing critical DOT, alcohol & drug, accident or HR files if a disaster occurs.

"We keep their information safe and sound in our secure online repository and give them access to "virtual" files through the Internet. In the event of a disaster, customers will still have ready access to the files they need to get their business up and running again, fast.

"At the end of the day, the most important thing we give our customers is peace of mind."

What part of compliance do companies struggle with most?

Frances: In terms of driver management, their biggest challenge seems to be driver qualification. A transport manager could spend all day checking and re-checking files for signs of non-compliance. Thankfully, Driver Management Online™ provides a faster, easier, better way to bring drivers — and driver qualification files — up to speed.

Why is Driver Management Online™ the right solution for customers with driver qualification headaches?

Frances: Driver Management Online™ saves transport managers loads of time by automating the driver qualification process. During the prequalification or hiring process, the manager simply enters driver data into the Driver Management Online™ system. Then Driver Management Online™ alerts automatically detect and flag drivers who aren't qualified due to missing or expired compliance items. These alerts appear right on the Driver Management Online™ homepage so managers can act quickly to get drivers in compliance ... and their files updated accordingly.

What's one new feature Driver Management Online™ customers are particularly excited about?

Frances: Transport managers appreciate the way Driver Management Online™ helps them find qualified driver candidates, fast. It sorts through hundreds of applications, weeding out those who are ineligible and putting the most qualified applicants right on managers' computer screens.

Frances would be happy to demonstrate how Driver Management Online™ can help you efficiently manage regulatory compliance and critical work processes in-house. Feel free to call her at 888-473-4638 (ext. 7533) or e-mail her at fcrowley@jjkeller.com.
